HISTORY OF NCAA DIVISION II WOMEN'S BASKETBALL RANKINGS: 1982-2025

►From 1982-83 through 1994-95: rankings conducted by National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA)

►From 1995-96 through present: rankings conducted by Women's Basketball Coaches Association (WBCA)

►From 2014-15 to present: second set of rankings conducted (media poll) by Division II Sports Information Directors of America.

BACKGROUND:
The NCAA started conducting a poll for Division II women's basketball beginning in the 1982-83 season. The chairs of each of the eight NCAA Division II regions ranked the top 20 teams starting with that season and continued to conduct the poll until the end of the 1994-95 season.

Starting in the 1995-96 season, the Women's Basketball Coaches Association took over the duties of conducting the poll for Division II Bulletin and expanded the poll to include the top 25 teams beginning in the first season it conducted the poll. One coach from every conference in NCAA Division II is represented on the voting committee as well as one representing the schools playing as independents. USA Today has served as a sponsor for the Division II women's basketball poll since the WBCA started running the weekly rankings.

In 2014-15, a second poll was started and conducted by a group of 16 sports information directors (two per region) from NCAA Division II institutions.

The data for this project was compiled by John Kean, Athletic Communications Director at Missouri S&T, with assistance from the NCAA, WBCA and other sports information directors in Division II.
Following are the weekly polls since 1982, as well as breakdowns on a week-by-week, year-by-year and institution-by-institution basis.
