

WELCOME TO THE UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI-ROLLA

ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY:

The University of Missouri-Rolla is in its 136th year as one of the nation's premier universities for science and technology. But while UMR's reputation has been for the quality of its engineering program, it is quickly becoming a well-rounded institution that now offers undergraduate and graduate degree programs in 35 fields.

The new student union building, Havener Center, opened on the UMR campus in January 2005.

UMR is located in a picturesque area of Missouri in the wooded hills of south central Missouri near the Ozarks. The 284-acre campus is located nearly halfway between St. Louis and Springfield, Mo., but within a reasonable drive of a number of state parks, lakes and several of Missouri's well-known vineyards, not to mention being a short walk away from the downtown area of a town that has been ranked as one of the best 100 small towns in the United States in Norm Crampton's The 100 Best Small Towns in America.

The campus itself has an enrollment of over 5,500 students, with a student-faculty ratio of 14 to 1. UMR is one of four campuses that comprise the University of Missouri system. The university, founded as the Missouri School of Mines in 1870 as the first engineering school west of the Mississippi River, has written the book on education in science and engineering and is broadening its scope in the 21st century.

While the university began as a mining school, the university has also prepared its students for leadership roles in engineering, science and liberal arts. UMR can boast of over 1,000 entrepreneurs among its graduates and hundreds of others in corporate leadership positions.

In addition, the university has broadened its academic scope beyond engineering as it now has programs for its students in business, education (pre-elementary and secondary), English, history and various other pre-professional fields such as pre-law, pre-medicine and pre-nursing as well as speech and media studies. But as far as the engineering fields go, UMR offers a wide range of options for students to go into. The university offers more than a dozen different engineering programs for its students to study.
