Weekly Poll Notes:

For the fourth straight week, Colorado School of Mines heads up the NABC/Division II national poll and has returned to the floor with back-to-back wins on Saturday and Monday.

The top five spots are the same this week, with Northern State at No. 2, Northwest Missouri State at No. 3 – those teams received first place votes along with Colorado School of Mines – Lincoln Memorial at No. 4 and West Texas A&M at No. 5.

The first change comes at No. 6 after Colorado Mesa suffered its first loss of the season Saturday at Western Colorado, dropping the Mavericks to ninth. Findlay and Truman State moved up to sixth and seventh, respectively, matching their highest ranking of the season.

Mercyhurst also moved up in the top 10 to eighth after winning a pair of road games last week and Lubbock Christian, who remained undefeated at 10-0, enters the top 10 this week.

This week's rankings have two newcomers in Northwest Nazarene at No. 23 and Glenville State at No. 24. However, Glenville State lost Monday at West Liberty (one of the two teams to fall out of this week's top 25) to fall from the unbeaten ranks.

A total of eight conferences have multiple teams in the rankings again this week. This week's rankings again include five teams from the Lone Star Conference -- No. 5 West Texas A&M, No. 10 Lubbock Christian, No. 14 Texas A&M-Kingsville, No. 15 DBU and No. 25 St. Edward's. The Gulf South Conference has three representatives in No. 11 Alabama Huntsville, No. 18 Lee and No. 20 Valdosta State.
